When using QUATTRO with a Bluetooth Device

After being paired, the QUATTRO can be used for phone calls and listening to audio streamed from music players or other entertainment apps.

Be sure the QUATTRO is selected on the paired device when making/answering phone calls or listening to streamed audio. Oftentimes, the device may default back to its internal speakers and you have to manually tell the device to use the QUATTRO.

A phone call may come in while you are listening to music or a movie with the QUATTRO. When the call comes in, the music/audio will pause and you will hear the ringing.

To answer:

- Press the silver button once to connect the call.
- To end the call, simply press and hold the silver button. The QUATTRO will announce, "call terminated."

To reject a call:

- Press and hold the silver button.
- You will hear "call rejected" and caller will be sent directly to your voice mail.

Once you end or reject the call, the music or audio stream will continue. NOTE: This is the same procedure when a phone call comes in while using the remote mic.
